

INDEFF acquires ONG Automation, strengthening its position as a global Wonderware partner

INDEFF has acquired ONG Automation, an Irish company specialising in Industrial Automation and Manufacturing Execution Systems. Peter Bresseleers, CEO and owner of INDEFF, explains. “We have a roadmap for the future of INDEFF. The acquisition of ONG Automation fits firmly within this plan. ONG Automation’s strong position in Ireland and the United Kingdom, their certified expertise and a decade-long partnership with INDEFF, convinced us that the deal would strengthen the group.”

Advancing on a global scale

Similar to INDEFF, ONG Automation boasts 26 years of experience in industrial automation, also as an Endorsed Wonderware System Integrator. The Irish company has completed more than 1,000 projects all over the world – with a focus on Ireland and the United Kingdom. “Thanks to the acquisition, INDEFF joins the global elite of Wonderware partners and is a recognised integrator for PLC systems in both Siemens and Allen-Bradley”, commented Peter Bresseleers.

INDEFF can now follow the sun. INDEFF already had a strong foothold in Asia, the Middle East, the United States, and the European mainland. But with the acquisition of ONG Automation, INDEFF firmly puts itself on the map in Ireland and the United Kingdom as well. Due to ONG Automation’s strong position in the United States, INDEFF strengthens its presence across the Atlantic too.

A wide array of certified business benefits

In today’s market, more and more customers demand guarantees in the form of ISO-certifications. ONG Automation obtained its ISO 9001:2008 certification originally in 2007 and recertified successfully to the evolving standard ISO 9001:2015. The continued drive for quality is verified by ONG Automation – running all projects to Gamp5. This year, ONG Automation and INDEFF intend to certify to ISO 14001:2015 shortly followed by ISO 27001:2015. These certifications help assure customers of the continued improvement and highest standards of INDEFF’s engineering and support offering.

Expansion is a key driver for this acquisition. Even though INDEFF and ONG Automation share some customers, the complementary expertise of both INDEFF and ONG will open up new opportunities for additional business development. “The majority of our clients are active in the Food & Beverages, Consumer Packaged Goods and Special Chemicals, whereas ONG Automation specialises in pharmaceutical products, medical devices, and semiconductors”, INDEFF’s owner and CEO Peter Bresseleers continued.

Creating new jobs in the automation industry

Derry Good, the current director of ONG Automation, will continue as the Regional Director of INDEFF’s Ireland branch. “The existing staff will form the core of our plans to expand employment in Ireland – enabling growth in both domestic and foreign markets. ONG Automation’s workforce, market expertise, and technical know-how will help boost INDEFF’s growth”, Derry Good commented.

The industrial automation company is looking to go from 100 to 120 employees in the next 18 months. With offices in the US, Belgium, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Oman, the UAE, Singapore, Thailand and now Ireland, INDEFF can offer automation engineers a multitude of exciting international career opportunities.
